

Professor of Political Science Bill Liddle (left) introduces Fred Lawson, Rice Professor of Government at Mills College, on May 1, 2008. Lawson spoke as part of the Islam and Democracy Series, which Liddle organizes, and subsequently met with students in Liddle's Political Science seminar on Democracy in Muslim Majority Countries.

Fred Lawson speaks on "Syria's Muslim Brothers: Shifting Fortunes, Changing Platforms" on May 1, 2008, at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies. In his talk, Lawson traced four waves of Muslim activism in Syria. since World War II.

Fred Lawson (center) speaks with John Mueller (left), Woody Hayes Chair of National Security Studies, and Yohanes Sulaiman, doctoral candidate in Political Science, after his talk on May 1, 2008, at the Mershon Center.